“Navigating College Admission Tests ”

Are you interested in learning practical, useable information about the standardized testing and college admissions? Hear from Matt Steiner, Senior Director at Compass Education Group, as he leads a thoughtful and pragmatic discussion of college admission testing that will be useful to students and parents alike. Some of Matt’s topics will include: SAT or ACT: Making your best choice, understanding PSAT scores and what they project, test scores’ role and weight in college admissions, why colleges’ testing policies vary so widely, debunking the most pervasive myths about testing and admission, the relevance of Subject Tests at selective colleges, and sane and successful calendaring of testing and test prep. Lastly, New Trier’s post-high school counseling staff will also be in attendance to answer any New Trier-specific questions. Both students and parents are encouraged to attend.

“How to Know if Early Decision is Right for You ”

A panel of current admission officers from a variety of colleges and universities will share their expertise and answer many commonly asked questions regarding the early decision application process. The panel will include representatives from the University of Chicago, Denison University, the University of Denver, Lafayette College, and Washington University in St. Louis. Each panelist will also share insights on how they review applications for admission. Learn how to explore college application options while clearing up common misperceptions on admissions and discover the difference between early decision and early action along with their respective impacts on admission decisions. Additionally, members the PHSC department will be on-hand to answer any questions regarding New Trier’s comprehensive, student-centered services, and the departmental philosophy on the admission process.
