Tuesday, November 5, 2019 7-9PM

Gender Talk and Gender Play Part 1

This session will explore how parents navigate gender with children. Each type of diversity brings unique challenges for parents. It is evident that children are constantly grappling with gender. Parents need to understand how to affirm and support this exploration. The conversation will include understanding our perspectives on gender and how these may impact our children. Each family brings a different perspective to this conversation and we want to create a welcoming environment for children from all types of families through greater parent awareness.

In this session, we will work on developing skills in navigating these conversations with our children. We will discuss more about gender and we will work through specific scenarios together to help grow our confidence in exploring these important topics.

Parent/caregiver trainings are located in the school auditorium. Childcare provided. Attendees are encouraged, though not required, to attend both sessions.
